The store and two frame tenements The store and two frame tenements on Adams street just south of the Central Park, all belonging to Mr. George W. Dunn, were destroyed by fire Sunday morning between 3 and 4 o'clock. The fire originated in Mr. Dunn's store, but how is not known. Mr. Dunn had an insurance of $200 on his stock of goods and $250 on the store in the Hamburg-Bremen Company, $200 on the two tenements in the Royal of Liverpool, and $750 on a tenement on Fill. pool, and $750 on a tenement on Fill more street, adjoining, in the Phoenix, of Brooklyn. The last-named building was only partially destroyed. The tene-ments were all occupied by colored

The store of Mr. E. A. Peebles, at Hicksford, was broken into several nights ago and robbed of goods of different kinds of considerable value. A negro named William Tannor was subupon examination was committed to iail. Some of the stolen goods were found on the person of the accused when arrested, and other goods have since been recovered in places where he had secreted them. Tannor had but recently served a term of six months in jail for a similar offence.

8. W. Venable & Co., met with a painful accident Saturday evening. While ascending the steps on the outside of the building to the second floor he slipped and fell to the stone pavement beneath, a distance of probably twenty feet or more. He was removed in an unconscious condition, badly shocked by the fall, and with one of his wrists broken. His condition to-day is said to be somewhat improved but serious. Some excitement was caused in the Mayor's Court this morning. A tramp was sentenced to jail for vagrancy. Not fancying the idea of imprisonment while the weather was so favorable for his movements, he made a bold dash for liberty by suddenly jumping through one of the windows of the court-room and taking to flight. He was quickly followed through the window by an officer, and for some distance there was a lively chase. The fugitive was cap-tured, however, and brought back.

MORLE, ALA, February 7.—A fire this morning at 4 o'clock destroyed the wholesale drug-house of W. T. Sprague & Co., No. 14 north Water street. The building and stock are a total loss. The loss on the building is $8,000—insured for $5,000; and on stock $20,000—insured for $12,000. The adjoining buildings were slightly damaged. H. Bernstein & Co.'s stock of boots and shoes was damaged considerably by water; insured for $7,500. During the progress of the fire the rear wall of the Sprague building fell upon the two-story brick tenement next to it, east, and broke in the roof and walls, which fell upon a number of men course. upon a number of men engaged in re-moving the stock of liquor therefrom belonging to James McDonnell. The heavy barrels and mass of brick which fell covered McDonnell, and killed him instantly. He was the head of a firm of wholesale grocers doing a large business for a number of years on Com-merce street. Frank McLarney, a member of the same firm, was seriously but not fatally injured. It may be that others are under the mass of brick. Search is being made.

XLIX. CONGRESS. Washington, February 7, 1887.

Mr. Walthall, from the Committee on Public Lands, reported back ad-versely the bill for the forfeiture of the railroad land grants in Florida. Placed on the calendar.

The Senate being about to take up the House bills on the calendar Mr Hawley moved to proceed to the consideration of the bill to encourage the manufacture of steel for modern army ordnance, armor, and other army pursequently arrested on the charge of having committed the burglary, and adapted to modern army warfare. He adapted to modern army warfare. He said he had given notice several days ago he would make this motion. He was pushed forward to it by the Committee on Coast Defences, the Committee on Military Affairs, and the general sentiment of the Senate, he believed, and of the country, he knew. The motion was agreed to—yeas 32, nays 21—and the bill was taken up for action.

The several amendments reported by the Committee on Coast Defences were agreed to, and after an explanation on some points of detail the bill was passed without division.

The Senate then took up and passed the bill to encourage the manufacture of steel for modern naval ordnance, armor, shafting, and other naval pur poses, and to provide heavy ordnance adapted to modern naval warfare.

This bill is like the other in all important particulars, except that the gunfactory is to be at the Washington navy-yard and that the fourth section of the other is omitted.

The Senate then passed several bills on the House calendar, the most im-portant among them being a bill to amend the act of February 26, 1885, to prohibit the importation and immigration of foreigners and aliens under contract to perform labor.

A message from the House requesting a certified copy of the Chinese indemnity bill (the original being lost or mislaid) was presented and ordered to be complied with. The Senate then (at 2:45) resumed the consideration of the Eads Tehuantepec bill, and Mr. Morgan continued his speech in support of it.

At the close of Mr. Morgan's speech (at 4:50) the Senate went into executive ion, and at 5:45 adjourned.

The question was, "Was there damage by negligence of the defendant's operator at Concord or New York, and if so, what was the amount of the damage, and were the plaintiffs engaged in a wager contract involving the delivery of cotton futures, which was void under the statute?" THE FAMOUS TENOR CAMPINING OF "OTELLO."

Distinct Advance in the Progress of Italian Musical Art-The Maestre Moved. Campanini cables to the New York his death-wound.

Times from Milan as follows:
The first presentation to the public of Verdi's new opera, "Otello," last evening was a grand event in the history of Italian musical art. La Scala was overcrowded with people representing all classes of Milan society, including all the Italian notabilities in the city or who could get here. Journalists and critics from all quarters of Europe were in attendance, with the managers of the chief European theatres and operahouses. No more critical or intellectual audience was ever brought to-gether in La Scala to approve or conemn a new opera.

Boito's libretto is an excellent drama, constructed in accordance with the principles of the Wagnerian reform. The first act of Shakspeare's splendid tragedy is entirely dispensed with by Boito, the action of the opera beginning with the record act, but Roite ning with the second act, but Boito with great pluck atones for the omis-sions by writing in several scenes which are grandly effective. Among those which are specially impressive is the quatuor between Otello, Desdemona, Iago, and Emilia, when Iago robs his wife of Desdemona's handkerchief. Otello and Desdemona are present in this scene, which is a wide departure from Shakspeare's tragedy. There is also a very effective terzetto, in which Otello, hidden himself, overhears the conversation between Tago and Cassio in relation to Bianca, and mistakes the meaning as referring to Desdemona. Verdi in his new work has made a distinct ascent toward a higher musical

Gluseppi Verdi.

He has abandoned the cor ventional forms of old Italian opera and created his work on an entirely different plan. The score is written with remarkable freshness of invention, and notwithstanding his daring evolution Verdi has sustained the Italian nationality of his work, and the well-known qualities of his genius will be recognized, though in a more brilliant light than heretofore.

The orchestration is one bright jewel of musical art. The storm at sea at the beginning of the opera is a grandlyrecalls at the bands of the enthusiastic andience. In the second act the remarkable In the second act the remarkators conception of the quartetto "Credo Iago" was marvellously well presented, and the duet between Otello and Iago was most effective. The maestro was recalled six times at the close of this act, and the enthusiastic demonstrations of approval were continued until sheer weariness compelled their cessation.

The third act proved less impressive on the audience as a whole, but gave satisfaction to the critical part of the assemblage by its dramatic power and the profound instrumentation. The terzetto, by Iago, Otello, and Cassio, created a genuine sensation. The grand finale was irresistible in its effect, and resulted in the recall of the great Verdi five times.

The fourth act marks the crowning success of the opera. The device of the "Willow" romanza was a wondersul revelation of Verdi's power, and the "Ave Maria" was most moving. The duct between Otello and Desdemona ends the act and the opera most dramatically.

After the cartain dropped on the final scene Verdi received an ovation. The demonstrations were surprising in their excessive enthusiasm. All the gentlemen and ladies were standing, swinging hats and handkerchiefs and crying loudly, "Viva, Verdi!" The maestro came upon the scene with Boito, and then the beautiful Pantaleoni was led out by Verdi.

Throughout the opera, but particu-larly in the fourth act, M. Maurel did wonderful work, both as actor and singer, in his representation of Iago. Tamagno was very good as Otello, and displayed his powerful voice to the best advantage. Faccio proved a grand con-ductor, and the orchestra and chorus were perfect in their work. The co tumes were according to drawings by Edel, and were picturesque and his-torically correct. The scenery was by Ferrari, and the opera was richly mounted.

Everybody agrees that Verdi in "Otello" has pointed out a new road to fame for the younger Italian masters. The stalls at last night's performance sold for 200f. ($40), seats for 100f. ($20), and boxes from 500f. to 1,200f. ($100

Verdi was followed to his hotel by an immense multitude of admirers, who cheered him on his way. I visited the great maestro on the stage at the close of the opera, and found him very much moved by the generous reception given to him and his work.

Mr. Johnson lives near here, and it gives me real pleasure to see that his gallantry as a soldier and his worth as a man are so well remembered by one of his old comrades-in-arms. He truly deserves everything that Mr. Cocke says about him. He is as modest as he is brave, and, with his remaining arm. has since the war bravely battled poverty and supported his large family. Though poor, he is quiet and cheerful and is a most estimable citizen.

Nothing would be more becoming or more worthily bestowed should the hosts of admirers of Stonewall Jackson all through this broad land raise a fund to make this modest hero comfortable the remainder of his life. Why should he not receive some substantial recog-nition of this heroic deed, especially when he was the only one wounded on the sad occasion?

EPITHELIOMA,

SKIN-CANCER.

For seven years I suffered with a cancer on my face. All the simple remedies were applied to alleviate the pain, but the place continued to grow, finally extending to my nose, from which came a yellowish discharge very offensive in character. It was also inflamed, and annoyed me a great deal. About eight months ago I was in Atlanta, at the house of a friend, who so strongly recommended the use of Swift's Spe-cific that I determined to make an effort to procure it. In this I was successful, and began the inflammation was allayed, and I began to improve after the first few bottles. My general health has greatly improved. I am stronger, and am able to do any kind of work. The cancer on my face began to decrease and the ulcer to heal until there is not a vestige of it left. Only a little scar marks the place where it had been. I am ready to answer all questions relative to this cure.

I have had a cancer on my face for some years, extending from one cheekbone across e to the other. It has given me a grea he nose to the other. It has given me a great feal of pain, at times burning and tiching to uch an extent that it was almost unbearable, commenced using Swift's Specific in May, SS, and have used eight bottles. It has given be greatest relief by removing the inflamma-ion and restoring my general health:

In 1863 a cancer developed on my lower lip. Iwent under treatment at once, and from time to time since that have had medical aid in New trieans, Bostoo, and New York with no benefit at all. It has progressed right along, and now involves my law and cheek. One thousand dollars would not cover the loss sustained through the medical and surgical aid. I have received. I have certainly tried everything, and was benefited by nothing until I took S. S. It has done me more good than all else put together, and I believe I will soon be sound and well. Swift's Specific is certainly a great boon to hamanity.
